PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—High chieftains of the Republican party were as uncertain today over the identity of their 1940 presidential nominee as the milling crowds of delegates and sympathizers who jammed a score of hotels.

On the week-end eve of their convention, some leaders asserted that there is a slow trend toward Ohio Senator Robert A. Taft. The headquarters of Thomas E. Dewey countered with a claim that the New York racket-buster will have 400 votes on the first ballot, which would be enough to make him the convention's favorite and likely choice.

Strong organizations meanwhile harangued hotel crowds in favor of the "dark horses," Wendell Willkie, New York utility executive, and Governor Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania. Lesser followings were urging delegates to note the availability of Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, New York publisher Frank E. Gannett, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, and Hanford MacNider of Iowa.

Convention Wide Open

On every side, leaders and delegates were declaring: "This convention is wide open. It is a delegates' convention at last." This was interpreted as meaning the delegates expect to nominate their own popular choice, instead of a candidate chosen for them by a few leaders in a "smoke-filled room". In other words, the candidate who proves most popular with the mass of delegates is expected to win.

Anti-War Plank One Of Big Issues For G.O.P. Platform

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—A bitter fight on the convention floor over the Republican party's foreign policy appeared a possibility today as G. O. P. leaders sought to bring together their isolationist and "aid to Allies" camps.

An ever-growing bloc, determined to go before the electorate on a strong anti-war issue, served notice that if there was any "straddling" on the question they will carry the fight to the whole convention after it meets Monday.

The struggle centered today in a meeting of the national defense sub-committee which is charged with the task of framing a stand on the rapidly changing war situation.

Anti-War Declaration
"It will be a straightforward non-involvement, anti-war declaration, or somebody's going to the floor with a minority report," Orville Bullington of Texas, leading peace-party advocate on the sub-committee, declared.

Bullington said the committee had received "a stack of telegrams two feet high and 90 per cent of them called for an anti-war stand."

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Battle lines of the supreme court enlargement fight—which President Roosevelt lost—re-formed in the Senate today around the bitter dispute over the Executive's new cabinet shifts.

Bi-partisan forces opposing the President's nomination of Col. Frank Knox as secretary of the navy and Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war, drew first blood. They won de-

All Of American Countries Desire Early Conference

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 22.—A Pan-American conference to discuss western hemisphere defense and other problems rising out of the war was assured today when Secretary of State Hull announced that all twenty of the Latin-American governments had indicated their desire to convene the meeting at once.

Their replies were made to a note sent by the United States to all the other Pan-American nations suggesting that a conference, previously planned for next October at Havana, should take place immediately.

Hull said that pending further discussion he could not announce the date or place of the conference, but added it would be held as soon as practicable.

GENEVA, June 22.—Internment of French soldiers crossing the border into Switzerland continued today and it was estimated about 50,000 French troops already are in custody along with 7,000 horses and considerable amounts of war material.

As soon as they are disarmed, the soldiers are sent into the interior of the country.

Many Polish troops who reached the border refused to permit themselves to be interned and announced they would return to the front and continue fighting.

Thousands of women and children from Alsace also have crossed into Switzerland.

Two U.S. Warships May Remain In South America

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Indications that the United States government may keep two of its larger warships in South American waters indefinitely were furnished in navy quarters today.

The 10,000-ton cruisers Wichita and Quincy are at Montevideo, Uruguay, and Rio De Janeiro, respectively, on what is characterized officially as a "good will" visit to Latin American ports.

While American officials deny that these ships were sent southward to forestall "fifth column" activities, the navy contends that the show of the American flag in Latin America is desirable at this time.

The navy department refused to disclose how long the two cruisers would remain in South American waters. A department spokesman said, however, that neither vessel had yet been given orders to sail back to the United States.

There will be no difficulty in refueling and restocking the ships' stores, according to the department.

Democratic leaders hoped to push through a resolution for a recess until July 1, although it was possible that a bitter snarl in the senate might upset plans.

BERLIN, June 22.—Continuation of the relentless German drive into stricken France was announced today in the German high command official communiqué which said: "Malé and L'Orient have been taken."

"We extended the bridgeheads on the lower Loire and occupied Thonars."

"In Lorraine and the Vosges our attack resulted in further dissolution of encircled enemy groups. Gerardmer was taken. The number of prisoners captured there exceeds 200,000, including one brigade of Spahis."

"On the remaining fronts the number of prisoners is steadily increasing, including the commander-in-chief of naval forces in the north, one commanding general and several divisional commanders."

"Apart from huge booty of all kinds of arms and war material, we captured 260 airplanes at various airports."

"Fighter Stuka squadrons attacked enemy fortifications, troop concentrations and transports in the area west of Strasbourg, southwest of Wissembourg and south of Lire."

"In the mouths of the Gironde and the Loire we sank one merchant ship of 8,000 tons, damaged one merchantman of 4,000 tons and destroyed two flying boats."

London Report Claims
Third Air Raid Causes
Little Damage

INTENSE DEFENSE
MADE AGAINST RAID

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 22.—Waves of German planes raided England again during the night, killing three persons and injuring three others but causing little material damage.

Later in the morning, heavy gunfire was reported over southeastern England.

A joint communiqué issued by the air and some security ministries stated:

"Three persons were killed and three were wounded. There was little damage. Bombs were dropped sporadically on several east coast counties."

Authorities said that intense defense activities—a barrage of anti-aircraft fire, searchlight work and opposition from British fighters—caused the third air raid on England in four nights to peter out.

"It was a hit and run affair," officials declared.

The German attacks were confined to a smaller area than their recent assaults, but many Britons nevertheless were forced to spend an uncomfortable night huddled in air raid shelters.

Anti-aircraft batteries went into action as soon as the German bombers appeared. Numerous terrific explosions were heard.

NEW YORK, June 22.—In a broadcast from the Compiegne Forest, William Shirer, Columbia Broadcasting Company correspondent, announced that the Franco-German armistice was signed at 6:50 p. m. today (1:50 p. m. E. D. T.).

NBC similarly carried a report from Compiegne, via short wave.

The announcement came from a joint NBC-CBS observer who added that the French plenipotentiaries were leaving immediately for Rome.

It was believed that negotiations similar in import and outcome would be launched in the Italian capital.

In fact, the radio observer said, the German-French armistice would not be effective until an armistice had been reached between Italy and France.

(International News Service)
While the implacable enmity between Britain and Germany was fanned today by new air raids upon each other's territory, peace delegations representing Adolf Hitler and an apparently beaten—but still fighting—France renewed their parleys over Germany's armistice terms.

The conference, recessed from yesterday to permit the French emissaries to transmit Hitler's take-it-or-leave-it terms to their government at Bordeaux, reconvened at Compiegne where Hitler yesterday laid down his peace conditions in the self-same spot where beaten Germany begged for a halt to hostilities in 1918.

The French delegates had spent the night in Paris. When they entered the famous railway coach where the World War armistice was signed, they were believed to be bringing a written reply to the German peace conditions. At Bordeaux, meanwhile, the French cabinet met in continuous session awaiting the reception of the German leaders to France's answer.

Italy-France To Have Peace Parley

Will Take Place On Italian Soil

Expect Conference To Follow German-French Armistice

ITALIAN CLAIMS BEING PREPARED

By PERCY WINNER
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

ROME, June 22.—A French armistice delegation already has left or is preparing to leave immediately to conduct peace negotiations with Fascist Italy on Italian soil, it was learned in Rome today.

(Editor's Note: This news indicated that France is ready to accept the armistice terms presented by Nazi Germany, presumably on behalf of both axis powers, at Compiègne.)

The Italo-French conversations will get under way the moment the Compiègne negotiations have been concluded. The French are expected to meet Italy's delegates tomorrow or Monday.

Suggestions that these meetings be held at St. Jean de Maurienne or other places in France associated with "broken allied promises to Italy" after the last war were rejected. Italian soil was chosen because Italy, victorious in the World War, "has no need to wipe of memories of military humiliations."

(A treaty promising Italy vast concessions for abandoning Germany and fighting with the allies was signed at St. Jean de Maurienne in 1915.)

Italian troops are already on French soil in numerous places, making important advances despite a difficult terrain.

Informed sources said that Premier Mussolini, while vigorously upholding Italian national interests, will avoid elements "unnecessarily hurting the prestige of the French nation and the honor of the French people."

Italian occupation of French soil is expected to include the Alpine region, Savoy and the Mediterranean Littoral to Nice. This is expected to be carried out in the next few days.

Italy's peace delegation is expected to include Chief of Staff Marshal Pietro Badoglio and a small group of the highest political and military officials. It was not certain whether Premier Mussolini would attend.

CONGRESS SPEEDS FINAL ACTION ON DEFENSE TAX BILL

lic debt limit from $45,000,000,000 to $49,000,000,000 and requires more than 2,000,000 more people to pay federal income taxes.

Meanwhile congress was to take final action on the greatest of all peacetime preparedness programs, involving appropriations and contract authorizations totalling $5,345,854,343.

While congress temporarily brought its appropriation action to a close because the new fiscal year starts July 1, it appeared probable that additional hundreds of millions will be provided for the army and navy later this summer.

The army receives approximately $3,100,000,000, while the navy is given more than $2,200,000,000 in expansion program.

Meanwhile, the senate wrote into a naval speed-up bill a drastic provision designed to halt sale of aircraft, torpedo boats and useful munitions to the Allies or other powers.

The amendment not only requires approval of army and navy heads for sale of war materials classed as obsolete, but requires a report to congress within 24 hours.

Defense Program
The defense program, which was virtually completed today, calls for:

1. Regular army of 380,000 enlisted men and money to arm 750,000 men and replacements of 250,000 more for an initial mobilization for war.

2. Funds to begin or carry on construction of 160 ships, including 10 battleships.

3. Funds for direct purchase or contract authority to obtain several thousand airplanes. Number depending upon contract price and designs selected.

4. More than $300,000,000 which may be used to expand airplane production to a possible 50,000 planes a year, to construct or expand ordnance, armor, shipbuilding and other plants for production of war materials.

Final action also was to be taken on measures which authorize the army to buy an unlimited number of airplanes, permits the navy to buy 10,000 and provides for training of 50,000 pilots by army, navy and civil aeronautics authority.

ANTI-WAR PLANK
ONE OF BIG ISSUES

volvement plank, with no mention of aid to the warring democracies, has swept through G. O. P. circles here since President Roosevelt appointed two interventionist Republicans, Colonel Frank Knox and Henry Stimson to his cabinet.

The committee met for three hours yesterday and arrived at no decision. There was an indication, however, that the groundwork may have been laid for a meeting of minds, for Chairman Alfred Landon announced after the session that "there will be no minority report."

Former Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, one-time ambassador to France and one of the leading Allied sympathizers on the committee, was known to be drafting a proposed foreign plank for submission to his colleagues.

Brand Democrats "War Party"
It was indicated, however, that Edge's proposals may have to be strengthened considerably to meet approval of those who feel the G. O. P.'s best chance lies in branding the Democrats the "war party" and fighting it out on that line in November.

Work on the ticklish foreign plank overshadowed other platform work, but progress was reported today from committees dealing with a list of domestic issues.

The labor committee, it was learned, decided not to take a stand directly on such controversial issues as the CIO-AFL fight or the National Labor Relations Act, but to draft a simple statement guaranteeing the American worker security and collective bargaining rights.

The tariff committee was understood to have agreed to recommend that reciprocal trade agreements be made subject to approval of one or both houses of Congress.

The finance committee, meanwhile, considered demands of a group of Republicans from the House ways and means committee for a plank setting out plans to bring the convention's fiscal affairs into eventual balance.

Republican farm experts on the agricultural committee were drafting the important plank on which they hope to capture the Midwest vote. This policy, it was understood, will urge temporary continuance of farm subsidies until agriculture can be placed on a self-sustaining basis.

PARTY LEADERS ARE UNCERTAIN ON G.O.P. CHOICE

is divided between Taft and Dewey. In some quarters these two leaders are expected to get together early in the convention next week and settle the ticket between them. Quite a few leaders echo the sentiments of former Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, the dean of all Republicans attending this convention. Watson says:

"Taft and Dewey, between them, have 650 to 750 delegates. If they use what I call ordinary political judgment, they'll keep a third fellow from coming in here and taking the nomination from them."

"I'm of the opinion that one or the other of them can get the nomination. At the present time I think Dewey has more votes than Taft, but I've talked to a lot of fellows who think the ticket ought to be Taft and Dewey. That's my personal opinion, too, but whether that can be brought about, I don't know."

There are others who say that Taft and Dewey will never get together but will battle each other until one or the other wins or both are beaten. This group says neither Taft nor Dewey can take second place on the other's ticket and must therefore battle to the finish for first place. This group says Taft would prefer the Senate to the Vice Presidency and that Dewey, if he misses first place, must be reserved to run for the governorship of New York in 1942. Incidentally, friends of both Taft and Dewey are in this group.

"Dark Horses" Loom
Followers of all the "dark horses" base their hopes and claims on Taft and Dewey deadlocking the convention.

More light may be shed on the nomination outlook when all the candidates get here and start meeting the delegates and leaders. During the day Taft, Dewey, Wilkie, Vandenberg and MacNider are scheduled to arrive. Another 24 hours, with the candidates on the job, may change the picture.

There were the usual claims from rival camps. Taft and Dewey managers claimed the nomination.

David S. Ingalls, Taft manager, said:

"Senator Taft will lead in the number of delegates on the first ballot and every ballot thereafter. Taft has gained strength in the last 24 hours."

J. Russell Sprague, Dewey manager, said:

"This Republican convention is going to nominate a Presidential candidate who can win the election in November. That means it is going to nominate Tom Dewey."

"About two weeks ago I estimated that Dewey would have more than 400 votes on the first ballot, with sufficient votes in reserve to assure his nomination. I said then that the estimate was conservative. It is more conservative now than it was then."

"This is a Dewey convention and 1940 is a Dewey year—and a Republican year."

Managers of most of the "dark horses" issued statements, declaring the existence of trends to their favorites.

Thus, on the eve of the convention, the name of the nominee was clouded in as much uncertainty as a month ago, when the primaries ended—with Taft and Dewey claiming a shared role of favorite.

meeting on the new appointee. This morning the Senate navy committee scheduled similar action with regard to the appointment of Col. Knox.

Navy committee chairman, Sen. Walsh (D) Mass., said: "A number of members are unable to be here today," and there would be no action until after the Republican convention.

Walsh disclosed that several requests for hearings, with Knox as a witness, have already been filed, and that he intended to call the Chicago publisher, testifying. Although he would not publicly commit himself, Walsh was understood to oppose the nominations.

Friends of Vice President Garner and Democratic National Committee Chairman James A. Farley reported both opposed appointments to Republicans to the cabinet. Garner and Farley held a conference some hours after Mr. Roosevelt's nominations were read to the Senate, but afterwards had nothing to say.

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., assumed leadership of the forces battling against the Knox-Stimson appointments, aided by Sens. Johnson (D) Colo., Clark (D) Mo., Clark (D) Ida., Nye (R) N. D., and half a dozen other Democrats. Although confirmation was indicated by a bare Senate shift, it was made plain that the views and actions of each appointee would be thoroughly aired before the final vote.

Johnson of Colorado revealed that he and his colleagues in the camp opposing the appointments planned a series of informal and secret meetings to marshal their forces. It was he who revealed, too, that the forces aligned against the President in the supreme court fight were again closing ranks in the new battle.

"Opposition to these appointments," said Johnson, "is rolling up just as it did in the supreme court packing fight. I'm against these renegade war-mongering Republicans going into the cabinet."

The most irritating development in the fight—so far as administration supporters were concerned—lay in demands of opposition forces for a thorough investigation of the resignation of Secretary of War Harry Woodring. Sen. Clark (D) Mo., submitted resolution calling on President Roosevelt to make public Woodring's letter of resignation.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Elizabeth McCormick. A member of one of New Castle's oldest families, Mrs. Elizabeth McCormick, aged 82, passed away this morning at 4:30 o'clock at her home 318 East Wallace avenue. Death was caused by complications.

Mrs. McCormick, born August 16, 1857, in New Castle, daughter of Patrick and Bridget Quinn Gunning, had lived here all her life. She was a faithful member of St. Mary's church, and was well known and loved for her wonderful disposition.

Mrs. McCormick was the widow of John L. McCormick, who passed away two years ago. She was also preceded in death two years ago by a daughter, Mrs. Harry McDermott, of Youngstown.

Survivors are one son, James A., four daughters, Mrs. Jos. Schnitzler, Miss Anna McCormick, at home, Mrs. Theresa McLaughlin and Mrs. Agatha McIntyre, all of this city, one sister, Sister M. Regina, of St. Joseph's order at St. Catherine's Convent, Pittsburgh; eight grandchildren and the following nephews and nieces, Robert McLaughlin, Paul McIntyre, Betty Lou McCormick, all of New Castle, James McDermott, Patricia and Madeline McDermott, Youngstown.

Funeral mass will be celebrated in St. Mary's church Monday morning at ten o'clock, the funeral procession leaving the home at 9:30. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Mrs. Julia Bishton.
Mrs. Julia Bishton, aged 81, of 542 Market street, Youngstown, a former resident of Oakland avenue, this city, passed away Friday at 3:15 p.m. in St. Elizabeth's hospital, Youngstown. She was the widow of James Bishton.

Mrs. Bishton was born September 15, 1859, in England, daughter of Henry and Mary Biddle. She was a member of the local Matilda Memorial Primitive Methodist church.

Surviving are the following children, John J. Bishton of Youngstown, W. H. Bishton and Lillian May Wilsey of Alliquippa.

Funeral services will be conducted from the Ritchie funeral home, South Mill street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Interment will be in Grace-land cemetery.

Thomas Bennett Perrine.
Thomas Bennett Perrine, aged 68, passed away at his home in Jackson Center this morning at 9:45 o'clock. Mr. Perrine attended church last Sunday evening where he played the violin. Upon his return home he suffered a stroke and had been unconscious ever since.

Mr. Perrine, son of the late James W. and Elizabeth Myers Perrine, was born in Worth township, Mercer county, on July 11, 1871. On July 7, 1897 he married Maude Emery Perrine, who survives him. He conducted a barber shop in Jackson Center and was a member of Jackson Center Methodist church.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are one daughter, Helen, wife of Robert Lewis, Stoneboro, Pa., and granddaughter Dorothy Jean Lewis and Phyllis Ann Wardle, the latter of Butler; one brother, Joseph of Jackson Center, and one sister, Mrs. Leah Hute of New Castle.

Funeral services will be held from the late home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with his pastor, Rev. S. D. Tarbell, in charge.

Mrs. Brown Funeral.
A large number of relatives and friends attended funeral services Friday morning at 10 o'clock for Mrs. Edward Brown, Euclid avenue, held from St. Joseph's church.

The solemn requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Regis Krah, O. F. M., Captain, of Pittsburgh, celebrant; Rev. Fr. Peter M. Schirra, deacon; Rev. Fr. Edmund Rowan, sub-deacon, and Rev. Fr. Michael Hinnbusch, master of ceremonies. Rev. Allen Madden, O. F. M., Captain, Pittsburgh, delivered the sermon.

Pallbearers were David Jones, Joseph Reider, Paul Reider, Albert Fehrenbach, John Abel and Joseph Phipps.

Interment was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Cananzi Funeral.
Requiem high mass for Charles James Cananzi, New Galilee, R. D., was celebrated from St. Ann's Catholic church of New Galilee Friday morning at 10 o'clock with Rev. Fr. Fred Leger, pastor of the church, as celebrant.

Pallbearers were student friends of the deceased from New Galilee. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery, Beaver Falls.

Heckathorn Funeral.
Funeral services for Domer J. Heckathorn, of Highland Heights were conducted Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock from the residence with further services at 2:30 o'clock in the Coaltown Free Methodist church. Rev. John Barger, pastor of the church was in charge assisted by Rev. Samuel Baker, and Rev. O. E. Anderson the latter of Pittsburgh.

During the services, appropriate selections were sung by Mr. and Mrs. John Morris.

Pallbearers were Domer Heckathorn, Alfred Black, Domer Sankey, William Lotz, George Huifman, Jr., and Darl Huffman.

Interment was in Clinton cemetery.

News Briefs
From City Hall

Lewis Flora, Wabash avenue, was arrested, police claim, by a U. S. secret service operative and City Detective Moore and Young, Friday in connection with the passing of a federal check. He was taken to Pittsburgh for arraignment before a U. S. commissioner.

FRENCH-GERMAN PEACE PARLEY IS RESUMED TODAY

world waited but still, at noon (EDT), no official word had come that the French and German plenipotentiaries had reached their respective goals at the conference table. Well informed American newspapermen, however, notified their headquarters abroad that France probably would ratify the armistice terms within a short time.

But from the very paucity of information at Compiègne, one fact stood out as self evident. This was that French capitulation to Hitler's terms—if such capitulation actually has been effected—was not brought about without considerable debate. Had France chosen to bow without argument, it was believed that the world already would have been informed by a jubilant Germany that France had signed on the dotted line.

Twenty four hours after the dramatic meeting between Germany's new war lord and his adversaries, the world still was in the dark on precise nature of victorious Germany's terms. That they were severe was believed beyond question despite Germany's formal disclaimer of "aspirations against an enemy so brave" as the French had proved themselves in battle.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

In The Forest Of Compiègne, France, June 22.—France will shortly sign an armistice with Nazi Germany and Italy, accepting the terms of the Axis powers and paving the way for peace on the continent, this correspondent was reliably informed late this afternoon.

The continental peace will leave Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini free to carry out a smashing onslaught against Great Britain "compelling early conclusion of the war," a spokesman said.

The clear hint that France is ready to accept the German terms and sign the "take it or leave it" armistice on the dotted line came some hours after the delegates of defeated France returned to Compiègne after spending the night in Paris and resumed the peace talks.

"Honorable Peace"
The peace to be enacted by victorious Germany will be an "honorable peace," Nazi officials declared. There will be determined efforts to avoid sowing the "seeds of hatred" or otherwise disrupting the mistakes of the Versailles consequences.

German spokesmen, however, made no secret of the fact that for a loser, a lost war means material sacrifices.

During the last 24 hours, a French tendency to relax and accept military defeat has demonstrated itself openly, German officials said.

Paris itself has taken a new lease on life, it is said. The public, informed of developments by cruising loudspeakers, seems more relieved than sad that the carnage is coming to an end. Time and again soldiers and officers are stopped in the streets and asked whether signing of the armistice will mean permanent peace.

Paris Is Reviving
The cafes of Paris have opened again and are thronged as always. The Cafe De La Paix has resumed business again.

German observers in the French capital reported no public expressions whatever against cessation of hostilities or against the decision of Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Pétain to ask for an armistice. Nazi officials said, however, that a tide of anti-British sentiment was rising, with Britain being blamed for the fiasco in France.

Formalities of the French capitulation were still in progress this afternoon. The advance of the German armies toward the south of France continues as well.

But everything indicates that early next week Germany and Italy will meet France—and probably Belgium and Holland as well—around a green-bait table.

If this conference transpires, it is expected to be held in some "popular" German town. Although the exact site has not been officially announced, reports in the past said that Hitler has chosen Muenster, scene of the treaty of Westphalia.

German sources said that the world should not be surprised if in the coming months Hitler makes friends with France, at least as collaborator in the reconstruction and re-shaping of the European continent.

Meanwhile, the American Red Cross joined hands with the French Relief society in feeding and accommodating the homeless in France. Gertrude Hamilton of St. Louis turned the American hospital transport service over to the same cause.

placed under the British naval high command, just as the British army was placed under the direction of the French general staff.

This fact doubtless has made it easier for the British to make sure that none of France's vessels fall into German hands.

According to latest estimates available at the navy department, French sea power consists of seven battleships, two aircraft carriers, 18 cruisers, 73 destroyers, and 77 submarines.

Join British Squadrons
Washington, June 22.—French warships in the Mediterranean and Atlantic are being put into British ports and naval bases of joining British flag squadrons to avoid surrender to the German Reich, it was reliably reported today.

Officials understood that this action, keeping the second ranking naval power of Europe in the war against Adolf Hitler's Reich, was being taken on the initiative of French officers.

They had refused, it was said, to give up their ships to Germany, regardless of the peace terms that may be accepted by the Bordeaux government.

PROPAGANDA TO BE PROBED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 22.—Investigation of foreign and domestic propaganda activities in the United States was virtually assured today as the senate audit and control committee met to consider a resolution by Sen. Clark (D) Mo., calling for the inquiry.

The audit committee was believed ready to report favorably on the resolution to investigate the sources of propaganda, and its effect on the administration's foreign policies.

Clark, asking $25,000 for the investigation, served notice it will cover alleged pro-Ally organizations, as well as pro-German sources of propaganda which, he said, are operating "in full force" in the United States.

REV. JOHN P. STUMP WEDS AT PHILADELPHIA

At a simple wedding in the chapel of the Lutheran Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Christine Nace Laubach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Laubach of 2006 Washington avenue, Northampton, became the bride of Rev. John P. Stump, son of the Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Stump of North Jefferson street, this city, which is of interest to many.

The bridegroom's father officiated at the ceremony at 3:45 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and providing appropriate nuptial music, Jean Post of Bethlehem presided at the console, and Emma Bucher of Lancaster, soprano, was soloist. Both Miss Post and Miss Bucher were members of the recent Cedar Crest college graduating class.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a pale pink creation, and she carried a white prayer book. Her sister, Kathleen N. Laubach, was the only attendant, wearing a sky blue gown with pink accessories.

Alfred M. Stump, Jr., of this city served his brother as best man, while ushering were Alfred and William Laubach, twin brothers of the bride.

The couple are now on a motor trip through western Pennsylvania, and upon their return they will take up residence in Philadelphia, where Rev. Stump was recently elected assistant pastor of Messiah Lutheran church, "The Friendly Church," at 16th and Jefferson streets. Dr. Ross Stover is pastor of the church.

At Cedar Crest college from which she was graduated in 1938, Mrs. Stump was president of the Y. W. C. A., general chairman of the Greek Drama Association and a member of the following honorary associations: Alpha Kappa Alpha philosophical fraternity, Tabard Literary society and Delphi Scholastic society. Until recently she was vice-president of the Cedar Crest Junior Alumnae and for the past two years had been employed in the gift shop at Hess Brothers, a large concern there.

Rev. Stump was graduated in 1937 from Muhlenberg college where he was captain of debate and a member of A. K. A. He completed his theological preparation in May at Mt. Airy seminary and took graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. At Mt. Airy, he was president of the student body and manager of the cooperative book store.

SIGMA DELTA CHI GIRLS DANCE AT CLUB SUCCESS

Approximately 125 couples gathered in the New Castle Field Club Friday night to dance to the strains of a popular orchestra at the semi-formal event sponsored by the Sigma Delta Chi group. Dancing was in vogue from 9 until 1 o'clock, and in tune with the music, which was smooth, pleasing and appealing, the girls in their crisp, chic formal dresses presented a lovely picture as they danced about the spacious ballroom with their partners.

Proceeds realized from the event will be used for charity work of the club. As a courtesy to the club, tickets were received at the door by members of Girl Scout troop seven of Trinity Episcopal church.

Those who chaperoned the dance were Dr. and Mrs. Travis French, the latter the club's advisor, Dr. and Mrs. David Connery and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sharpneck.

The dance attracted a number of out of towners, guests attending from New Kensington, Ellwood City, Chicago, Walmo, Texas, New Bethlehem, New Wilmington, Sharpsville and Boston.

SPOON CLUB GUESTS AT LUNCHEON PARTY

Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Moody avenue, received members of the Luncheon Spoon club in her home Friday, with Mrs. Joseph Mahon, house guest of Mrs. H. M. Kirk, sharing as a special guest.

Cards were in play, with high score awards going to Mrs. L. A. Ober, Mrs. Quincy McBride, and Mrs. Mary Pearson.

The group will gather again on July 5, with the hostess to be announced at a later date.

LADIES DAY HELD AT CASTLE HILLS

Keen interest was shown in the team competition at Castle Hills golf course Ladies Day on Thursday when the Eagles, captained by Mrs. David Aston, and the Greens, captained by Mrs. Harry Wetlich, tied for first place. Mrs. Russell McGill had low score for the day.

Play started at 9:30 a. m. and luncheon was served at noon, play being resumed in the afternoon.

Play day will be observed next Thursday, June 27, during the afternoon. In the morning, the teams will play for their regular points.

Sew-A-Bit Club

Mrs. Joseph Naples of Lutton street, received member of the Sew-A-Bit club, on a recent evening. Mrs. Barney DeSantis captured the club token, and card prizes were won by Mrs. Charles Russo and Mrs. Louis Kuzo.

LAURA BACON AND T. GRITTE WED

Miss Laura Bacon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ecker Bacon, of Grandview avenue, and T. Grizzle, son of Peter Grizzle, Sr., of Hart street, were united in marriage at 11:30 this morning. Today also marks the silver wedding anniversary date of the bride's parents.

Rev. Homer Davis, pastor of the Wayne church at Erie, and a close friend of the young couple, officiated at the ceremony in the new home of the couple which they will occupy at 820 East Washington street, before an assemblage of fifty guests, many from here and surrounding vicinities.

Most clever in the arrangement of attire for the entire wedding party, which included white tailored suits for both the men and women. The bride was especially pretty in her suit of the new white tulle cloth, extremely tailored, with blue lace accents. She wore a shoulder corsage of bride's roses. Her father gave her away during the ceremony.

Mrs. James Gilmore, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and also wore a white tulle cloth suit, with a similar corsage of roses. William Rech served the groom as best man.

Mrs. Wallace Davis, of Kinsman, Ohio, played lovely nuptial music, preceding, during and following the marriage.

Members of the wedding party were then entertained at a buffet style brunch in the Bacon home, Grandview avenue. The buffet table was prettily arranged with delphinium, orange blossoms and a miniature wedding party. Aides in serving were Mrs. Raymond Huling and Mrs. John Mottinger.

Mr. and Mrs. Grizzle departed on a wedding trip and will return home after July 1. Both are graduates of the Union township high school and the bridegroom is an employee of the Shenango Pottery, where the bride was employed until her marriage.

Out of town guests attended from Pittsburgh, Grove City, Sharon, Clarksville, Erie, Transylvania, Ohio, Hartford, Ohio, and Kinsman, Ohio.

MILITROT-LOMBARDO CHURCH WEDDING TODAY

A lovely wedding was performed this morning in St. Vitus church at 8:30 o'clock, the principals being Angeline Militrot, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Mass of 712 East Reynolds street, and Domenick Lombardo, son of a and Mrs. Chaires Lombardo of DuShane street.

Before the beautifully embanked altar of ferns and flowers, vows were exchanged in the presence of a large gathering, with Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita officiating with the single ring service.

Given in marriage by her brother Carlo, the bride looked lovely in a white brocade taffeta gown, princess-style, made entrain with leg-o-mutton sleeves. A crown of seed pearls and small clusters of orange blossoms caught her fingertip veil in a cap effect, and she carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies.

Miss Edith Letera of Youngstown, as maid of honor, wore a peach gown with blue accessories. Her bouquet was made of tulleman roses. Benny Monroee of Sewickley served the groom as best man.

Bridesmaids were Ann Lombardo, Angeline Marso and Caroline Cuneo. All wore blue brocade taffeta gowns, with peach accessories and carried bouquets of Johanna Hill roses. Ushering were Charles, Frank and Anthony Lombardo. Preceding the approach of the bridal party, a period of nuptial music was presented.

Supplementing the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served to members of the family and guests in the Union Calabro hall. This evening a reception will be held for friends and relatives of the young couple.

At a later hour, Mr. and Mrs. Lombardo will depart on a wedding trip to Marion, O. For traveling the bride will wear a brown and white ensemble with white accessories and a shoulder corsage of white gardenias.

Upon their return in a week the young couple will reside at 1102 DuShane street. Mr. Lombardo is affiliated with the National Radiator company.

MOTHERS-DAUGHTERS HAVE ANNUAL EVENT

The annual mothers and daughters dinner of the Bethel United Presbyterian church took place on Thursday, June 20, with 90 ladies in attendance.

A delicious dinner was served at beautifully decorated tables in pastel colors of pink, yellow and green. Mrs. W. C. Strohecker, president of the missionary society, acted as toastmaster and welcomed the group Miss Louise Kyle, in her charming manner gave a toast to the mothers, and Mrs. Roy Enslin equally responded to the daughters.

Interspersed throughout the program was pep singing with Mrs. Charles McBride at the piano.

Corsages were presented to the youngest mother, Mrs. George McCalla, the oldest mother, Mrs. William Fullerton, the mother with the most daughters present, Mrs. James Gardner, and to the four generation group, Mrs. Piper, Mrs. Roy Enslin, Mrs. Bob Enslin and Janet Enslin.

Mrs. Charles McBride, program chairman, then introduced the following program: "Aunt Jemima Courtship," by Beryl Edia McGraw; "Tableau of Memories" with Mrs. R. R. Douglas, Ethel McBride Betty and Helen Dice, Mrs. John McKim, Joan Paden, Elinore Gardner, Ruth Noggle, Mrs. Watkins, Alice Jean Enslin, Mrs. George McCalla and Pearl Lipp, taking part in the sketch.

The lovely occasion was closed with the group singing "Faith of Our Mothers."

GARDEN CLUB HAS TRIBUTE TO FLAG

A lovely sunset picnic was enjoyed by members of the Lawrence County Garden club and their families, at the beautiful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Kannenberg, Wilmington road, Friday evening.

Just at sunset, following the picnic dinner, the 40 persons present, arose to attention while the American flag was lowered from its mast. The group joined in singing America and repeating the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

Mr. Chas. Burkhardt, Mrs. Clyde Whitaker and Mrs. John Loudon were on the committee responsible for the success of the outing. Games were played till dark when W. E. Ferver showed motion pictures of gardens in various parts of the country, and travel pictures taken in Canada.

On Thursday, members of the club motored to Butler where they were guests at the home of Mrs. T. W. Phillips. Long strolls through the gardens at the Phillips estate featured the hours. Tea was served.

AFTERNOON PARTY FOR LOCAL COURT

The last in the series of charity card parties was held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when members of the C. D. of A. Court Teres Irene No. 231, gathered in the K of C. Home, North Jefferson street.

Tables of bridge were in session, high score trophies being awarded to Mrs. Carl Sewald and Mrs. Fred DeJana. Prizes for 500 contests were captured by Mrs. Jack Hannon and Mrs. Dan Sullivan.

Awards for the series honors were received by Mrs. Fred DeJana and Mrs. Clyde Rohrer.

Mrs. Ann Mulcahy was the chair-lady of the series, and she was assisted by Mrs. Anna Seger. Another series will take place in September.

Mary Fee Hostess

Miss Mary Fee received members of the Junior Catholic Daughters of America, Troop 3, in her home on Grant street, for their meeting on a recent evening.

Delores O'Leary was in charge of the meeting, after which there was a period of contests. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edward Fee and Mrs. William Kennedy.

Plans were formed for a breakfast at Cascade Park, June 23. This group also made plans to participate in the Field Day celebration which will take place at the Elks Club, Ellwood City, June 30. July 14, members will join with the whole Junior C. D. of A. for their annual picnic at a popular beach along the Slippery Rock.

Miss Betty Hannon will entertain in her home on West Washington street.

T. O. T. Club

Members of the T. O. T. club enjoyed a ham fry at Cascade park on a recent evening.

Many diversions were held by the group with Hazel Parks in charge.

The special guest was Martha Sankey, of Pittsburgh.

On July 2, the club members will have a picnic event at the park.

INTERVENTIONISTS IN THE CABINET

THE people of this country are absolutely determined to keep out of Europe's war. Because of this intense resolve they want their federal government to be strongly anti-interventionist in the present war crisis.

Appointment of Henry L. Stimson and Frank Knox, Republicans, to be Secretaries of War and Navy respectively, in place of Secretaries Woodring and Edison, is definitely disturbing because both are known as outstanding interventionists.

Mr. Stimson, who was Secretary of State in President Hoover's Cabinet, recently has been away out front in advocating repeal of some provisions of what he has termed our "ill-starred so-called Neutrality Act" and in urging the sending of our planes to the Allies "if necessary in our own ships and under convoy."

Col. Knox, who was signally honored by the Republican party four years ago as its candidate for Vice President on the ticket headed by Alf Landon, has in recent weeks been a consistent shouter of a more active war role by the United States in support of Britain and France.

Although Knox has been one of the bitterest critics of this Administration's domestic policies, he has been an ardent follower of its foreign policy. His appointment to the Navy post, regardless of any question as to his fitness for the job, evidences his thorough sympathy with any interventionist influences which may be operating with the government.

A President has the right, under our system of government, to choose whatever citizens he wishes to be members of his Cabinet. However, much of the strength of our system depends on its two-party nature.

It is inevitable that the President's appointment of one-time Republican Stimson and Knox will be taken widely as a move toward a coalition government, for the purpose of making bipartisan the responsibility for momentous Administration decisions that may be ahead.

Because the appointment of Stimson and Knox carries the suggestion of intervention overseas and dubious politics at home it is disquieting to a nation that is gravely apprehensive lest it should become involved in the European war.

FRANCE'S CONTRACTS

Since the war began British and French purchasing commissions have bought $1,600,000,000 of war goods in the United States. Of this huge amount $600,000,000 was contracted for in the last month. How much of this remains undelivered is unknown, but ships have been departing from Eastern ports in a steady stream laden with supplies.

Now that France has been overrun by the Nazis, one of two things will happen. Either Britain will take over the contracts voided by the defeat of France or they will not be filled at all for export. If the latter, that portion of industry devoted to these contracts will begin working on American rearmament orders.

Airplane orders were supposed to have been accepted on the basis of a substantial down payment so that if delivery could not be consummated the manufacturers would not be left holding the sack. Presumably the materials which France will not now get are already partly paid for and if Britain does not take them, the American government will.

But the French defeat is certain to be a shock to this nation's foreign trade. Texas storage tanks are filled with petroleum and gasoline for France. Petroleum over-production thus becomes an immediate problem for this country. In the first World War some Western ranges were almost denuded of horses as Allied purchasing missions bought them by the thousands. Planes have now displaced the war horse, and unfortunately they do not grow on ranges.

HELPING OTHERS TO ARM

United States exports to Russia have been sharply on the increase since the beginning of the war, but this is due neither to greater friendliness to this nation nor to a preference for this over other markets. The largest single increase has been in ferro alloys and copper, both important as war materials.

The sole reason Russia has been looking to this country for these supplies is that war, or preparations for war, in Europe and elsewhere have closed to Russia markets in which she normally would seek materials of this sort.

In the first seven months after Hitler invaded Poland U. S. exports to Russia increased 81 per cent over those of the corresponding period of 1938-39. Although in this period the Russians purchased almost $90,000,000 worth of supplies, including moderate quantities of rubber and tin, of which the United States is itself an importer, there is no firm indication buying will continue at this rate.

What has happened is that about a year's normal trade has been compressed into seven months. Department of Commerce officials insist that Russia has not been acting as a commissioner for Hitler, but herself needs all she has bought. In the first three months of 1940 Russia more than doubled the amount she bought in the four months from September 1, to December 31. It is possible, if not directly inferential, that some unhappy experience in the Finland campaign may have stimulated this buying, and perhaps will continue to do so.

Regardless of whether any of these commodities find their way to Germany, it is a fact that they have been dispatched to a partner of Hitler and to a state that has itself committed acts of unprovoked aggression in the invasion of Poland, Finland, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

This need not be surprising, however, in view of the fact that for years this nation has been sending materials to Japan with which to wage war on China, and perhaps to prepare to wage war on the United States.

There are those among us who remember the war in Norway. To those just coming in, the plot is the same, only the locale being changed.

If cataclysmic events continue at their recent rate, the Republicans at Philadelphia will have to do something really sensational to make the front page.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

YOU WERE A BUSY BABY

Though you were present, you may not remember much about your early infancy. Let me tell you something about yourself when you were a baby.

If you were average, you weighed at birth about 7½ pounds, less if a girl, more if a boy. Right after birth, you lost some weight—maybe you'd like to now—regaining all of it in about two weeks. You doubled your weight in five months. What if that should happen to you today!

You tripled your birth-weight in a year. In the second year of your life, you gained half a pound a month—sometimes this happens to you now. And from your third to sixth year, you put on about five pounds annually. At the age of eleven, you were ten times as heavy as you were on the day someone said of you, "It's a boy!" or "It's a girl!" Perhaps you are not an average person nor care to be; but if you are, you are twenty times your birth-weight now.

You grew swiftly. In case you were an average baby, your length at birth was about twenty inches; just two inches more than half a yard, which you increased by ten inches by working at it for a year. Three more years passed before you were twice as long (high) as when you uttered your first cry. At birth your stomach held one ounce; six ounces, six months later. And you had about 270 bones when you were born, with only 206 of them now.

You have only about twice as much brain now as you had when you were born, and your brain at present is no bigger than it was when you were seven or eight years old. A boy this age wears a hat about as big as he will ever wear.

And those eye-balls of yours, big and round, had about their present size when you were only eighteen months of age, believe it or not. Says Dr. John E. Anderson of Minnesota University, in his book Happy Childhood:

"At birth, or shortly after, the infant is able to react to sensory stimulation. Within a few hours, he will turn from the dark to the light half of the room; by the end of the first day, he will fixate on a spot of light. In two months he will be able to follow a moving object with his eyes, and in nine months he will discriminate objects in the visual field with accuracy."

Can See Colors. "Because of the infant's inability to speak, it is difficult to determine the moment at which he first distinguishes color, but there is evidence that even at the age of nine months some sensitivity to color is present. There is clear indication that by the age of two years color discrimination is present."

"Shortly after birth, infants react to heat and cold and to pressure and pain. There is also evidence of reaction to taste and smell from birth onward."

I still have on hand some copies of "Names for Babies and Their Meanings," to be had by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. In like fashion, you may receive a sheet to guide you in finding out how smart your baby is. Indicate which one of the following you desire: What Baby May Do. (1) From nine to fifteen months of age. (2) From eighteen months to two and a half years. (3) From three to four years of age. (4) From five years of age.

MIRTH

Were it not for laughter
Life would be dreadful;
Mirth must follow after
Care and tragedy
Or we'd dread tomorrow
Bringing further woe
And to newer sorrow
Lack the will to go.

Through whatever tasking
Holds them for awhile
All that men are asking
Is the right to smile.
All the bitter battles,
All the things they make,
Like our children's rattles
Are for laughter's sake.

Peace it is that's shining
In the twinkling eye,
Done is fretful pining,
Done the heavy sigh;
Done the dismal telling
Over hurts and pains,
Peace it is that's dwelling
Where the laughter reigns.

So the end of all things
Is the merry jest,
Large things and the small things,
Great and little test,
Goal of trade and traffic,
Culture, sport and style,
Arts, both stone and graphic,
Is the right to smile.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:34. Sun rises tomorrow 4:29.

It looks as if America is going to be blamed for some of the foreign nations being licked. America had nothing to do with starting the war, however. Lots of people get blamed for things they are not responsible for by unthinking people.

One thing can be truly said about ex-president Hoover and that is that he has no sore feeling about anything and is willing and capable of doing all he can for humanity all over the world.

Free speech is right and desirable, of course. In this land of the free it wouldn't do to say otherwise. Yet listening to free speech sometimes turns out to be expensive.

"I see no enemy at our gates," says a Communist on the radio. No, but you'll find some in the living room if you'll look closely.

Men who are elected to public office should be elected on their records and not on their promises.

UP TO STUFF
A man from abroad was chaffing the American about the United States.

"Judging by the divorce rate your America certainly seems to be the land of the free all right," he said. "That's so," said the American. "And judging by the marriage rate it also is the land of the brave."

If the snarls cannot be kept out of traffic during a depression, what is to be done when prosperity returns?

A chap sat down on a bench in a store. Two guys came in and one sat down on one side of him and the other sat down on the other side of him. The guy in the middle said after looking at them that he grabbed his pocketbook in his pocket and held it tight and got up and left.

A club member wrote a card and placed it on his hat. It read: "Put this hat back—it doesn't belong to you."

Then he wore away some other member's hat.

"Mr. Jones," said a young man. "I want to marry your daughter."

"I am glad to hear she is wanted by some one who thinks he can support her, for I can't," said papa.

A census agent stopped at the home of Mike.

"Your name," he asked. She gave it.

"Your husband's name?" The same as mine.

"But I want his full name." "That varies," said Mrs. Mike. "Sometimes he thinks it is Joe Louis, but when I get my hands on him I change it back in a hurry."

Readers' Questions Answered
Question: Just when should wedding gifts be acknowledged? I say after the bride returns from her honeymoon. Am I right?—Edith.

Answer: No, Edith, you are not right! Wedding gifts should be acknowledged by the bride personally as soon as possible after their receipt. The bride should never wait until after her marriage to attend to this all important duty. She who does so is greatly criticized. If her gifts arrive in great numbers, she should have a member of her family or a friend help her to list them for immediate acknowledgment.

Question: After my graduation from high school, this month, I should like to give a dance. At what time should it begin? It will be in the evening of course, and I shall serve refreshments.—H. S. G.

Answer: About nine-thirty or ten o'clock. Serve a buffet supper around eleven-thirty.

Question: How long should guests remain at a house party?—Francie.

Answer: Just so long as specified in the invitation. If it states from Friday dinner to Monday morning—that is exactly how long a guest should remain, and no longer unless the hostess especially requests a longer visit.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

What's What At A Glance

Uncle Sam Freezes Securities Abroad
Recent Action Is Annoying To Germans
Residents Of Invaded Nations Affected

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 22. Danish, Norwegian, Dutch, Belgian and Luxembourg holders of American securities are represented in dispatches from Berlin as deeply resentful of the difficulties they are experiencing in cashing in their Yankee stocks and bonds in New York or at other markets throughout the United States.

The Berlin version is to the effect that big American companies always were exceedingly appreciative of European investments in their enterprises, and did all they could to entice the latter in.

And it's a fact that the small European neutrals of today did put a deal of their ready cash into our concerns, their own countries being already over-developed and ours still a land of business opportunity. This financial drift from the little neutrals to the United States was much accentuated as Old World conditions grew increasingly ticklish, since investors turned more and more skeptical of their eastern hemisphere's future prospects, while as confident as ever of the safety of their ventures here.

Accordingly, the outbreak of the blitzkrieg found the capitalists' strong boxes of the small neutrals fairly bursting with gilt-edged American stuff—and immediately its holders, in the invaded countries, began showing a surprisingly strong inclination to cash it in, to a total hard onto a billion dollars in our currency.

Doesn't Make Sense

This was rather surprising. Considering that the neutral investors had chosen to buy their securities here, rather than elsewhere, when war merely threatened, it seemed queer that they didn't deem this the safest place for their nest eggs with war actually on.

Our government, as well as our financiers, took this view. It issued an order "freezing" our securities held by citizens of the invaded countries.

It was an order which made it virtually impossible for an invaded neutral to sell any of his paper, for the present, in the United States. He can't get the transaction recognized.

For instance, assume that Jan van Soest, a Dutchman, owns some American stocks, for which a purchaser is sought, in Van Soest's name, in New York. Before that dicker can be concluded, the treasury has ruled that the post office department, the customs service and the Federal Reserve bank must pronounce it a bona fide deal.

It isn't disputed that Jan is entitled to sell his stuff, and the company's own record of its shareholders will show that it belongs to him.

The United States treasury's question is:

Is this the original Jan van Soest, or just a stooge, trying to act for him—a stooge about whom Jan himself maybe knows nothing?

A question of identity, like this, if the questioner deliberately seeks to be as hard as possible to convince, quite as easily can be made to spin itself out for the duration of the war, no matter how long a war it may be.

No Direct Complaints

It's a system concerning which no complaints are heard, coming directly from Denmark, Norway, Belgium or Luxembourg. It's the Germans who relay the news, and the treasury's theory is that the Germans are the folk it irritates—not the Danes, Norwegians, Dutch, Belgians or Luxembourgers.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

PERHAPS.

There has been a great deal of propaganda concerning the attitude of the Germans themselves to the Hitler regime. It is said that the Germans are badly fed; that they are inwardly very resentful of being herded like sheep. I got a story the other day that I cannot help but credit and I give it here for what it is worth.

A man living in an American city was a war pilot in World War No. 1. After the armistice he was kept by our government in Germany attached to the Army of Occupation. While so attached, he became acquainted with several German aviators who had survived and he formed a pretty close friendship with one of them. He liked the man very much and during the years that have passed since that time, the two have corresponded.

About three months ago the American received a letter from his German friend that was just a pleasant how-do-you-do. "Things are all right over here and everybody is happy. Knowing that you are a stamp collector, I am attaching to this letter several German stamps that have just been issued, which I think you will enjoy adding to your stamp collection." He then closed his letter with more pleasant words. The letter came through all right and the stamps were affixed to the bottom of the letter page.

The American, in order to place the stamps in his stamp book, removed the stamps from the letter page very carefully. Underneath he found in small script these words, "We are starving."

The minds of the German censors did not move fast enough. There was nothing for them to suspect and they suspected nothing, but it would have been just too bad for that pleasant German aviator to have been caught.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

Blocking A Truce

Washington, June 22. SOME of our most eminent and patriotic publicists are again calling for an "absolute truce" in politics. Only by nonpartisan cooperation among the leaders of the two parties, it is argued, can our national effort to arm ourselves be effectively made in the emergency, which grows graver as the German menace grows greater, be dealt with intelligently.

NEARLY everybody will agree with that. Nearly everybody will concede that this is no time for personal or party politics; that it is a time when, in the national interests, public men should put aside personal ambition, rise above the normal political level and help achieve an essential national unity on all matters of foreign policy and home defense. Without that sort of unity, certain obvious steps necessary to our elemental safety cannot be taken.

THAT is the argument, and it is sound enough. Moreover, it is admirable and right to urge an "absolute truce" in politics. But it is not realistic to ignore the outstanding obstacle in the way. And it is not helpful to be vague about what is going on. For example, it seems like evading the basic fact not to proclaim that in any political truce the initiative must be taken and the example set by the party in power. That seems too clear to argue. Of course, when you say "the party in power" these days you mean Mr. Roosevelt.

THESE being the indisputable facts, why do those who now cry for an "absolute truce" not point out that the thing which more than all else stands in the way is the scheme of the White House politicians to put Mr. Roosevelt over for a third term and Mr. Roosevelt's encouragement of the scheme? Why do they not point out that these New Deal statesmen are calculatingly using the emergency to further their plans and crush out all opposition to the third nomination? Why not tell the people the fact that back of the Presidential handling of our foreign problems his highly approved aides are busy handling domestic politics with the idea of keeping him in his job and themselves in theirs?

WHY not tell them that this by no means is being done without Mr. Roosevelt's knowledge or approval; that while civilization is crashing abroad he has found time to discuss the details of the Democratic convention, possible candidates for the Vice-Presidency and who ought to be the temporary chairman? Why not point out that his conferences with the machine bosses of Chicago and New York and his appointment of Mr. Croomwell as Minister to Canada right after the unsavory New Jersey boss, Mr. Hague, had come out for a third term, was done with full knowledge that Mr. Hague intended to nominate Mr. Croomwell for the Senate and that is susceptible of but one interpretation?

AT this moment members of his Brain Trust are engaged on their preliminary platform work and devising ideas to make the "draft" seem convincing. The more blatant among the jobholders—Mr. Ickes, for example—offensively insist that our democratic processes might as well be superstitious as the confessions with the machine bosses of Chicago and New York and his appointment of Mr. Croomwell as Minister to Canada right after the unsavory New Jersey boss, Mr. Hague, had come out for a third term, was done with full knowledge that Mr. Hague intended to nominate Mr. Croom

Summer Bible School Closes

Hoover Heights Tabernacle Bible School Students To Present Program Sunday

A successful summer Bible school was brought to a close Friday at the Hoover Heights Tabernacle, South New Castle Boro., with the awarding of a souvenir to those having perfect attendance during the two weeks of the school. There was an average daily attendance of 73.

The work was under the direction of the pastor of the church, Rev. Russell Schilling, with a number of teachers selected from the teaching staff of the Sunday school. A program will be presented by the school at the regular Sunday evening service of the church starting at 7:45. This will be in the nature of a demonstration of the daily routine of the school and to show the parents some of the actual work accomplished by the scholars.

The Great Game Of Politics

Mr. Roosevelt to make national defense a one-man job. Considering all these things, it does seem clear that if the "absolute truth" is to be obtained, it is in Mr. Roosevelt's power to obtain it by doing two things: First, renounce his third-term ambition and put an end to the political activity of his friends; second, disclose fully his plan and policies.

IT is not unreasonable to ask Mr. Roosevelt to do these things. It is far more unreasonable for him to do them. And it is utterly unreasonable to talk about an absolute truth in politics without insisting upon his doing them. If the work of national defense is to be handled by a lack of national unity; if the American effort of the next five months is to be smeared with politics and slowed down by a bitter political campaign, the responsibility will rest squarely upon him—and upon no one else. It is the politics he himself is playing which makes it impossible for those who want to cooperate on foreign policy to do so wholeheartedly. This is so plain that it seems a pity not to say so when urging an abandonment of politics.

reasoning is that the Nazi forces, as soon as they gained control in the invaded little kingdoms, undoubtedly promptly seized on all such evidences of indebtedness as those referred to and now are trying to market them, in their original owners' names, in America, thus providing themselves with approximately a $1,000,000 balance in "dollar exchange" to trade off for Yankee goods.

Uncle Sam, by his freezing process, simply, as the treasury sees it, is preventing Herr Hitler from disposing of his plunder.

Father R. A. Must To Celebrate His First Mass Sunday

Rev. Fr. Raymond A. Must To Celebrate First Solemn High Mass At St. Mary's Church

Solemn dignity will prevail Sunday at 12 o'clock noon when the Rev. Fr. Raymond A. Must, a newly ordained priest, will celebrate his first solemn high mass in St. Mary's church.

Assisting him will be the Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin, as arch-priest; Rev. Fr. Leo S. Watterson, deacon; Rev. Ferris Guay, sub-deacon. Bernard Carlin will be the master of ceremonies and James O'Connor the assistant master of ceremonies.

The sermon at the mass will be given by Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin, who has chosen for his subject "The Priest Leads the Way to the Supernatural Life."

Rev. Fr. Must, who is 25 years of age, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob P. Must of 18 East North street, was ordained into the Holy Priesthood on Sunday, June 16, in the famous St. Vincent's Archabbey in Latrobe, Pa.

Father Must will remain at St. Mary's church until he receives his official appointment from Bishop Boyle.

Peniel Youth Will Have Annual Rally

Second annual rally sponsored by the young people of the Peniel Holiness Association will be held July 4 at the camp meeting grounds at Conneautville, Pa.

The camp ground is located on state route 18, about 12 miles north of Conneaut Lake and about 40 miles south of Erie.

Speakers engaged for this year's rally are Rev. Paul H. Woods of McDonald, O., and Rev. K. B. Lininger of Sheakyleville, Pa. Rev. Woods will speak at the 10:30 and 7:30 services and Rev. Lininger, a graduate of Asbury college, will deliver the afternoon message.

It has been decided to set aside a few minutes at each rally in behalf of one of the Christian colleges of America. The school chosen this year is Taylor University, and the time agreed upon is part of the 2:30 service.

Wilkinson Named Reserve Officer

(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22—Clarence Arthur Wilkinson, 228 Fourth street, Ellwood City, has been appointed to the organized reserves of the regular army, the War Department reports. He has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the engineer reserves.

Clyde Victor Ruhling, 359 Miller Way, Butler, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the field artillery reserves.

Peniel Holiness Association will have its 44th annual camp meeting August 2 to 11 at Conneautville, Pa., it was announced today.

Speakers this year will be Rev. Charles H. Stalker and Commissioner George H. Davis, both world travelers. The camp orchestra, singing bands and visiting quartets will furnish the music.

An Oklahoma priest last year produced a new type of seed corn that matures in 60 days.

IT is not unreasonable to ask Mr. Roosevelt to do these things. It is far more unreasonable for him to do them. ## Greatest Navy of All Time to Guard America

A navy of titanic proportions—twice the size of either the present British or American fleets and far larger than the present combined fleets of Germany, Italy and Japan—is visualized in the proposed "two-ocean" naval expansion program for the United States. Pictured above are the five chief elements of the American navy. Figures below each show present number of each type of craft, plus additional number planned and eventual total. The program would give the United States a total naval tonnage of undamaged war vessels of 2,970,000 tons. Combined with overage craft the total tonnage would be 3,670,000 tons.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SLEEP

Just how much sleep does a person need. As I said here yesterday, it depends upon the individual. Some persons need only five hours, many need more.

The rule for adolescents is nine hours per night, and from this rule, the eight hours-a-night convention has grown up for adults. But there is no basis at all upon which to fix an arbitrary number of hours sleep for adults. Possibly eight hours is an approximation of the needs of the majority of grown-ups. But if you are one of those people who can't sleep this long, don't worry about it. And don't worry if you don't fall asleep as soon as you lie down. It's whether you wake up rested next day that you need be concerned about.

One of the most effective ways of banishing sleep is to worry about it. Some persons go to bed absolutely determined to go to sleep—and can't. They lie there with their minds made up counting sheep furiously, and getting nowhere in Slumberland. Then they go to their doctor to complain that they have insomnia. Sleep is a natural, like breathing. You just try making a conscious effort to breathe and see what work it becomes.

I remember one old gentleman, a patient of mine, who was terribly worried about his "insomnia." He lived with a farmer, and he went to bed when the farmer and his family did. I found that the old fellow didn't get up when the rest did. He took a rest after dinner and frequently had another sleep after supper. The rest of the day, he took it easy. Yet, he was all upset because at night he couldn't sleep as long and as deeply as a farmer who worked hard in the fields from dawn until dusk.

People sleep when they need sleep. If you really need sleep and can't sleep, you may have a real case of insomnia. But I haven't found very many of them—real ones I mean.

Science has never been able to explain the phenomena of sleep satisfactorily. One theory is that sleep is chemical, caused by an accumulation of fatigue toxins in the blood. Another is that it is the depletion of oxygen supplies in the body that brings on sleep. Still another is that the unconsciousness of sleep is a temporary anemia of the head, caused when the blood supply to the brain has been diverted in some way or other.

Some researchers suggest that nerves are switched off in the brain during sleep—that increasing drowsiness and final sleep is caused as more and more nerves are switched off. According to this theory, restless sleep occurs when all nerves are not switched off.

Investigations do show that our various senses go to sleep at different times. For instance, hearing seems to be the last to be turned off. Thus noises are the worst disturbers to sleep and even though they aren't loud enough to wake the sleeper completely, they will disturb his rest.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Pastor's Sister To Sing Sunday Morning In Ward

Miss Elizabeth Louise Myers is Student At Juilliard School In New York City

Musical program for the morning service at the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, will be featured Sunday by the appearance of Miss Elizabeth Louise Myers, of Pittsburgh, sister of Rev. John E. Myers, Jr., pastor of the church.

Miss Myers was formerly contralto soloist at the Sixth Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh, and at present is a student at the famous Juilliard School of Music at New York City.

Quite a number from the Mahoningtown church heard Miss Myers sing at the Point Breeze Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh a short time ago, and extended an invitation to her at that time.

Miss Myers will be accompanied, at the piano, by Miss Angie M. Ockenga, also of Pittsburgh.

Need New Floor For Band Stand

Hope To Start Work On Repairs For Liberty Street Park Band Stand Soon

Need for a new floor on the bandstand in the Liberty street park corner of Darlington avenue and North Liberty street, was realized after an inspection of the structure was made Friday.

It was necessary to postpone the W.P.A. band concert, scheduled for Thursday evening, because of the condition of the band stand.

It is hoped that with the cooperation of the city and members of the Seventh Ward Civic club, a new floor may be constructed for the stand in a short time.

Rev. Blasdel To Speak At Union Service Sunday

Second In Series For Mahoningtown Churches Scheduled For Christian Church

Second in the series of summer Sunday evening union services for the Mahoningtown churches, will be held in the Madison Avenue Christian church at 7:45 o'clock.

Rev. D. J. Blasdel, pastor of the Mahoning Methodist church, will deliver the sermon. Rev. Milton E. Shearer will conduct the service and will be aided by Rev. John E. Myers, Jr.

Congregations of the Christian Methodist and Presbyterian churches will join for the event. Music will be furnished by the Christian church choir.

Daily Vacation School To Begin Monday At Church

Boys And Girls Of Community May Attend Bible School At Presbyterian Church

Good attendance is expected at the first session of the Daily Vacation Bible school scheduled for Monday morning, at the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church.

Although sponsored by the Presbyterian church, the vacation school is for all of the boys and girls of the community.

According to Rev. John E. Myers, Jr., pastor, the school will continue each morning for several weeks. A group of reliable teachers have been secured for the school.

Make Repairs On Liberty Street

Members of the City of New Castle Street Department made a visit to the Seventh Ward, Friday afternoon, for the purpose of making repairs to the surface of North Liberty street.

Amesite patching material was used and numerous holes filled. At the intersection of Madison avenue a dip in the street was filled in with amesite.

Set Date For School Reunion

Date for the annual Mahoningtown School reunion was announced today. The reunion, this year, will be held on Wednesday, August 7.

The reunion will be for all those teachers and students who attended the old brick school in Mahoningtown.

HELP WANTED

By Elmer T. Pocklington

If I want to buy some apples
Or some taters or a squash,
I can buy 'em where I find 'em—
I can look at 'em b'gosh!
I don't have to be an expert
To decide if they are good
Fer you bet I know my onions
And the other kinds of food.

But when a watch I purchase,
That is something else, by Jing!
Thar's a lot of jools an' pinions
Hid away inside the thing.
I don't buy it of a peddler
Or of someone I don't know;
I will buy it of the jeweler
That I think can make it go.

An' INSURANCE—thar's another—
Darned ef I can figger why
Thar's so many yards of printin'
In the policy I buy.
But I know that I shall never
Get the thing all reasoned out
So I patronize an agent
Who knows what its all about.

Giants Defeat Cincinnati 4-3

Billy Jurgens Is Spark-Plug As Giants Down Reds, Indians Keep On Winning

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 22.—If any one player could be singled out as the key man in the current rise of the under-rated New York Giants, that player, undoubtedly, would be Billy Jurgens, Manager Bill Terry's newest "meal ticket."

Not only is Jurgens, traded to the Giants by the Chicago Cubs two years ago, playing outstanding ball at shortstop, but he also is keeping together a youthful infield, comprised of two rookies and a made-over third baseman.

At the plate, Jurgens is no Babe Ruth. If he hits above a .275 average, he is considered having a good year with the stick. On the other hand, he is what is known to the trade as a "clutch" hitter, a dangerous man to have at bat when there are runners on base waiting to be driven home.

At this writing, the veteran infielder is hitting a paltry .249, but twice this week he has broken up games by coming through with timely bingles.

Giants Beat Reds

Yesterday's game with the Cincinnati Reds was a good example. With the game tied at 3-all and second place in the National League hanging in the balance, Jurgens came through with an eighth inning single that drove home the winning run. The final score was 4 to 3, with Harry Gumbert besting Paul Deringer in a pitcher's battle.

Although he was showing some signs of his 39 years by weakening in the late innings, Freddie Fitzsimmons still had enough control of his famous knuckle-ball to down the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 8, and, at the same time rack up his 190th major league victory. Manager Leo Durocher, hoping to bolster his riddled pitching corps, announced the buying of veteran Lou Pette from the Boston Bees for the waiver price.

The Philadelphia Phillies nosed out the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 5, and, although it was officially the first day of summer, the St. Louis at Boston game was called off because of rain and cold weather.

Indians On Top

The Cleveland Indians maintained their fast pace by copping their sixth straight victory, 7 to 4, at the expense of the Boston Red Sox. Al Milnar, although nipped for two homers, went the distance to become the second pitcher to join the ten wins society, his teammate, Bob Feller, having made the ranks yesterday. Beau Bell's homer with two on in the eighth clinched the contest for the Indians.

The New York Yankees snapped a five-game losing streak to pound out 17 hits and score a 12 to 7 triumph over the Detroit Tigers and the Philadelphia Athletics trounced the Chicago White Sox, 12 to 1.

Sid Hudson pitched the Washington Senators to a 1 to 0 victory over the St. Louis Browns in a night game that broke the seven game losing streak of the Senators. Hudson barely missed baseball's hall of fame by holding the Browns hitless until the eighth inning when Rip Radcliff smacked a double to right field, for the Browns lone hit of the game.

Sports World Ramblings

Mrs. Nolan loses... Mrs. Thomas E. Nolan, New Castle's crack golfer, was eliminated in the quarter-final round of the state women's tourney in Scranton. Pitted against Katherine MacCloskey of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Nolan was defeated 3 and 2.

Dario Baptiste, who was a favorite when he served as an aide in the Y. M. C. A. physical department is visiting here. Baptiste, always one of New Castle's leading sports figures, is now affiliated with the J. C. Penny store in Berkeley, California.

Diamond tidbits... With the sudden injuries of Frank Pytkak, slighting of R. H. E. Hensley and third string catcher Helt in the hospital, Cleveland's backstop slot is in a bad way. Guess who has volunteered to help out? Lou Boudreau, who did a little catching before advancing to the big show.

Yankee Deings: Did you ever hear of Manager Joe McCarthy playing a game under protest? During last Thursday's game with Chicago, an argument arose over a foul ball which Julius Solters snagged. In reaching for his cap which was blown off by a strong wind, Solters dropped the pellet. An argument ensued. McCarthy marched to the ump and informed him that the game was being played under protest.

For the first time in years, Bill Dickey is batting in seventh place. He has been sandwiched in between Gordon and Dahlgren... Joe DiMaggio doesn't like playing in the lamplights... The White Sox recently did something no other team has ever been able to do, so far as we can remember—shut out the champs twice in a row... Johnny Whitehead, ex-White Sox hurler, who ate his way out of the majors, in doing an excellent job in the American Association. He copped his first four tilts as a Toledo Mudhen peger... Bob Bragan the 19 year old who poled two homers to lick "Bucky" Walters is an amateur radio singing during the winter.

Some of the strangest things in baseball have happened in the past week. After knocking off the Yankees in a twin bill, the Browns spanked the Red Sox three in a row. The Yanks extended their losing streak to five at this writing. "Bucky" Walters, after winning 9 straight, was licked by the Phils. P. S. The Pirates cracked a record by finally winning a game in Boston, proving that anything can happen in baseball.

WEST PITTSBURG TRIMS RED SOX

With Lefty Tonsette pitching a great four-hitter the West Pittsburg "Gas House" team won a postponed City league game last night at West Pittsburg field from the Red Sox 12 to 1.

The "Gas Housers" teed off on Paul "Lefty" Minner, Clever and McKiver for 17 hits, seven of them being for extra-bases. Albert Marky had a homer to be the feature highlight in the game. A DeMonaco had a pair of triples, while James Marky, John Marky, M. Marky and A. Marky had one triple apiece. Sovesky tripled for the losers.

The victory elevated the DeGennovans to third place in the league standing.

BRENT DEFEATS MEDUSA 2 TO 1

Brent defeated Medusa of Wampum, two one in a seven inning Lawrence league game which was interesting to watch yesterday at Wampum. Medusa was ahead one to nothing at the end of the second but in the fourth inning two runs were put across by the coal miners. Bognosky hurled for Wampum Medusa. He held the coal miners to five hits while D. Grundy allowed the Wampum team only six hits. Grundy struck out four and had an edge the better of the hurling throughout the game.

Bognosky hit a triple which was the only extra base clout in the game. The box score:

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEBALL

A very amusing sight caught my eye last night . . .

a young chap who is fondly called "Skip" has the job of painting a picket fence . . . and that my friends is a job . . . but "Skip" is happy about it all and to make things more lively or maybe less lively he has devised a couple of signs that he has planted on the sidewalk running past this particular fence . . . one side of the sign reads "Men working ahead, go slowly" . . . and the other side reads, "Resume speed". These signs may be seen on a bright day in front of Roger W. Rowlands home on Highland avenue.

It is entirely up to you if you want to visit a beer parlor or a tap room . . . or even take the beverage home . . . but we do have something to say to the folks who dispose of beer cans along the public streets and in private property. A lot on Fairmont seems to be a good stopping place for certain individuals . . . they use the contents of the cans and then throw the cans out into the street and on this certain lot . . . how about it folks, can't you play the game square . . . be good American citizens.

It's coming near the Fourth of July . . . the time when it's great fun to have a fireworks display . . . and we have here in New Castle and vicinity some high class manufacturers of fireworks. Now it seems that a certain celebration committee of the County bought their fireworks from an out-of-town concern . . . it was the matter of price that bothered them but something else that the community surrounding them can't understand . . . let's all try to keep our purchases within the County . . . united we stand, divided we fail.

Some 200 boys partook of the free swimming lessons that were offered by the "Y" during the past two weeks. A great number of these boys, none of whom could swim, are now swimming the length of the pool. The lesson period finishes up today and to make it a real red letter day, the entire group will go on a hike . . . And those who are familiar with the "Y" know what that means . . . a good time for all.

It hardly seems possible that July is just around the corner and that a great many families are still burning coal. Wonder just what the summer will be like? Will it be very hot later on and will we have a late fall? Your guess is very good.

Mrs. Wendell Willkie Is Somewhat Puzzled

By JANE COCHRAN
International News-Service Staff
Correspondent

NEW YORK, June 22.—Wendell Willkie as president... Well? Mrs. Wendell Willkie as first lady... well? Blue-eyed, spirited and diminutive Mrs. Willkie pursed her lips, arched her eyebrows and thus dubiously described her mixed reactions toward her dynamic husband's presidential possibilities.

"I'm always in favor of my husband for everything—the presidency included," she explained. "But I don't know whether I look forward with pleasure to the possibility for myself."

"I would mind giving up my private life and I certainly could never make speeches. But, if you marry a man, you try to lead a life to fit in with whatever he does and the boom for him is certainly a great compliment."

"The swift rise of her successful business executive husband from an obscure dark horse to a prominent Republican nomination possibility has left Mrs. Willkie without time to think or even decide what her reactions really are.

But whatever hesitancy she displays in analyzing her own responses, she displays only enthusiasm when discussing her husband's qualifications for the Republican presidential nomination.

"He's a successful business man, he's studied all his life he's never held a political office but that certainly doesn't mean he knows nothing of government," she said. "It always annoys me when they say a man doesn't know anything of government until he's held office. That need not mean anything."

Non-Fiction Books Becoming Popular

Additional Books From Dr. Adler's Recommended List Now Found In Library

Last in the series of books recommended by Dr. Mortimer Adler in his volume, "How to Read a Book," were released this week by Miss Alice Sterling, public librarian, who states that the books are among the leaders in the non-fiction field.

Following are the titles:

"Confessions"—J. J. Rousseau.
"Emile"—J. J. Rousseau.
"Social Contract"—J. J. Rousseau.
"Tristram Shandy"—Lawrence Sterne.
"Wealth of Nations"—Adam Smith.
"Critique of Pure Reason"—Immanuel Kant.
"Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire"—Edward Gibbon.
"Faust"—Goethe.
"Philosophy of History"—G. W. F. Hegel.
"History of Civilization"—Guizot.
"Works—Honoré Balzac."
"Political Economy"—J. S. Mill.
"Utilitarianism"—J. S. Mill.
"Origin of Species"—Darwin.
"Works—Charles Dickens."
"Capital"—Karl Marx.
"Typee"—Herman Melville.
"Moby Dick"—Herman Melville.
"Crime and Punishment"—Dostoevsky.
"The Brothers Karamazov"—Dostoevsky.
"Madame Bovary"—Gustave Flaubert.

All of these books may be found in the local public library, according to Miss Sterling.

Red Cross Will Give Instruction On Knitting Work
Ask Local Women Interested In Knitting For Red Cross To Meet Tuesday
All women of the New Castle community, who are not now members of groups engaged in knitting and sewing for the Red Cross, have been asked to meet at the Chapter House of the Lawrence County Chapter, 29 North Beaver street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. New classes will be formed and two instructors will be present to give instruction in knitting to those who are interested in learning.

New Executive Assistant To President Named
(International News Service)
HYDE PARK, N. Y., June 22.—Acceptance by James Forrestal, president of Dillon, Reed & Co., of his appointment as an executive assistant to President Roosevelt was announced today from the temporary executive offices.
Forrestal, whose assignment has not yet been announced but is believed to be in connection with the rapidly expanding defense program, will take over his post next Wednesday.
The position carries a $10,000 annual salary. Rumors have persisted in Washington recently that in addition to Forrestal, the next man to join the so-called group of "men with a passion for anonymity," will be Daniel T. O'Brien, president of the American Federation of Labor's Teamsters Union.
